

Interzum

The trade fair for suppliers to the furniture industry “Interzum” is taking place in Cologne/Germany from May 16 to 19, 2017. International exhibitors are going to present the new trends and developments of their industry.

As in previous years the ICDLI will also be a part of the project “innovation of interior” which particularly addresses to designers. The booth presents the new décor trends and product features of HPL.

The members of the ICDLI are getting a platform to present their new collection on the booth. Samples of HPL, kraft paper and décor paper as well as pictures of applications will inform the guests about environmental topics, design, functionality, durability and quality concerning the material.

Inter alia the guests will receive information about HPL during a guided tour for architects.

The next time we will get in contact with you for preparing the booth and inform you about some material we need for the gallery.

Update of EPD

The Environmental Product Declarations (EPD) provides quantified, verified and objective information about the impact of a product or service on the environment. The gathered information is based on well-defined parameters. The whole life cycle of a product – its production, its application, and its disposal – is to be considered.

The international standard ISO 14020 distinguishes between three types of EPDs. Type III stands for the most extensive level of them, since it is verified by a third independent authority and therefore, provides the maximum of objectivity as well as neutrality.

In cooperation with thinkstep, the EPD will be revised and the questionnaires for the update will send to the members in the following weeks.
